December 15. Last Wednesday the Boyne Prilief out of our Bay, on a Cruize against the face Day a Proplem of Spiniards.

y a Proclamation was iffued by their Exa the Lords Juffices and Council, offering a Retool for apprehending and convicting of a OFlyn, of the County of Roscommon, Gent. ma Flya, otherwife Richardson, a Popish Frier, alo the Sum of 50 l. for the apprehending and convicting of Patrick Mulldoon, Edmund O'Flyn, John Kelly, Mary Kelly, John Elwood, and feveral other Persons, concerned in forcibly carrying away Mary Dermott, out of the House of Mr. Edmund O'Fiyn.

Last Week the Southwell Privateer of Briftol, brought into Kinfile a French Privateer, a St. Domingo Ship richly laden, and four Merchant Ships, which lately failed from Cork, laden with Provisions; and were taken by the French Privateer, and retaken by the Southwell, near Cape Clear.

Laft Wednesday Night the House of Mr. Matthew Kegan, of Holybrook, in the County of Wicklow, was broke open by four Men arm'd, who tied his Hands and Feet, and robb'd him of upwards of 50 l. and then went off undiscover'd.

On the 4th Inft. died at his Seat at Dowrane, in the County of Kilkenny, John Bayly, Esq. a Gentleman of a universal good Character.

Extract of a Private Letter from Kinsale, dated December 11, 1744.

Late last Night arrived the Trial Privateer of Bristol, William Wood, Commander, from a Cruize; and brought in a Prize, the Benjamin of Rochelle, 300 Tons, 10 Guns, and 37 Men, from Guiney and Sr. Domingo, laden with Sugar, Indigo, Elephants Teeth, and Gold Dust. She is a valuable Prize, the no true Judgment can be form'd of it, as the French Officers on Board would not make any particular Discoveries relating to to her Cargo, in hopes of ransoming her. If who was told of her by One on Board, may be credited, she is worth upwards of 50,000 l. She made a gallant Defence, and did the Privateer a great deal of Damage. The French Captain and Boatswain were killed, the Carpenter loft a Leg, and two more were wounded: The Privateer had only one Man flightly wounded. The Trial failed from this Harbour the 25th past. We have now about 500 Prisoners here.'

An Account of this Undertaking.

An Account of this Undertaking.

It has been for a long Time a very just Complaint, among the Learned, that a Multitude of valuable Productions, published in small Yamphilets, or in single Sheets, are in a short Time, too often by Accidents, or Negligence, doftroyed, and instrely lost, and that those Authors, whose Reverence for the Publick has hindered them from swelling their Works with Repetition, or encumbering them with Superfluitier, and who, therefore, deserve the Praise and Gratinde of Posterity, are forgotten, for the very Reason for which they might expect to be remembered. It has been long lamented, that the Duration of the Monuments of Genius and Study, at well at of Wealth and Power, depend in no small Measure on their Busk, and that Folumes confidenable only for their Size, are handed down from one Age to another, when compendions Treatifes, of far greater Importance, are suffered to perish; as the compacted Bodtes sink into the Water, while those, of which the Extension bears a greater Proportion to the Weight, sloat upon the Surface.

This Observation hath been so often consumed by Experience, that, in the Neighbouring Nation, the common Appellation of small Performances is derived from this unfortunate Circumstance; a flying Sheet, or a fugitive Picca, are the Terms by which they are distinguished, and distinguished with too great Propriety, at they are subject, after having amused Mankind for a While, to take their Hight, and aliapters for ever.

What are the Lesses which the Learned have already sustained, by having neglected to six those Engitives in some certain Residence, it is not easy to say, but there is no Doubs that many valuable Observations have been repeated, because they were not preserved, and that, therefore, the Progress of Knowledge has been retarded, by the Necessay doing what had been already done, but was done for those who forget their Benefactor.

The obvious Method of preventing these Losses, of preserving to every Man the Reputation be has merited be for

The obvious Method of preventing these Losses, of preserving to every Man the Reputation he has merited by long Assistance, is to unite these scattered Pieces into Volumer, that those which are too small to preserve the inserver, may be secured by their Combination with others, to consolidate these choms of Learning iaso Systems, to collect these distincted Rays, that their Light and their Fire may become perceptible.

Of encouraging this useful Design, the Studions and Inquissive have now an Opportunity, twisch, perhaps, was new r offered them before, and which, if it should now be lost, there is not any Probability that they will ever recover. They may now conceive themselves in Possessive of the Lake into which all those Rivulets of Science have for many Years been slowing; has which, unless its Waters are turned into proper Chanels, will soon bush its Banks, or be dispersed in imperceptible Exhalations.

mill Joon bush its Bankt, or we dispersed in imperceptible Exhalations.

In the Harleian Library which I have purchased, are treassured a greater Number of Pamphlets and small Ireatises, than were, perhaps, ever yet seen in one Place, Productions of the Writers of all Parties, and of every edge, from the Reformation, collected with an unbounded and unwearied Curiofity, without Exclusion of any Subject.

So great is the Variety, that it has been no small Labour to pense the Tirles, in order to reduce them to a rude Division, andrange their Heaps under General Heads of which the Numbers, the not yet increased by the Subdivision, which an accurate Survey will necessarily produce, cannot but excite the Curiosity of all the Suddon, as there is scarcely any Part of Knowledge, which seme of these Articles do not comprehend.

N. B. So great Encouragement has been given to this Week.

N. B.
